Notes

"They were about two inches from our face," (NIKKI)Sixx says. "Me and Tommy (LEE)are just sitting in these two chairs, and Daniel was singing right in front of us, and Tommy and me looked at each other. We're like, 'He is Vince.'" - Rolling Stone

"Frontman Vince Neil (Daniel Webber of The Punisher, in the strongest performance of the bunch) is touched by tragedy, first when his drunk driving gets a friend killed, then when his daughter is diagnosed with cancer." - Time

"Douglas Booth and Daniel Webber each take turns stealing the show. Booth's depiction of an inebriated Nikki Sixx is as upsetting as it is realistic. The audience will root for him when he's down and cheer when he decides to sober up all because Booth is so convincing. Daniel Webber, on the other hand, exudes sexuality. Playing the heartthrob that can't seem to keep his pants on, Webber is charming in all the wrong ways. He'll be mostly remembered for his portrayal of Vince Neil during the later portions of the film though -- particularly the scenes opposite of Kamryn Ragsdale, who plays Neil's daughter Skylar." - IGN
